Purpose:

In this dynamic conference with many practical learning activities and workshops, explore how the significant accumulation of spirituality and health research over the last 25+ years translates into useful applications for healthcare and other human services providers. Participants work with leaders in the field to integrate significant findings from spirituality and health research into clinical practice, including medicine, psychology, sociology, and education.

Goals:

Participants from different backgrounds will develop both a broad vision of the role that spirituality plays as a health or mental health determinant and also specific applications that they can implement into their own practice, discipline, and workplace. To achieve this goal, teams will form on Monday, continue to work in mentored settings at designated times throughout the week, and then report back their accomplishments on Friday.
